The Winter School's program will address imminent and controversial issues in environmental law, focusing on multilevel governance and regulation matters in Germany and in Greece. The Winter School will start on Monday 7th of December 2015 at the Institute of Environmental and Technology Law of Trier University, where the lectures will take place during the day. The lectures will deal with planning law in energy transition, the environmental permit in comparative law, public participation and environmental impact assesment-procedure in international perspective, climate change negotiation and international environmental law. One day is reserved for an excursion to the Court of Justice of the European Union in Luxembourg where we will attend a hearing. The Winter School will end on Friday 11th of December 2015. During your participation in the Winter School you will have the opportunity to visit the city of Trier and experience student life at our University. The final details of the program will be made available in due time.

Financial Support for Greek students and graduates

For the participation in the winter school from December 7th to 11th 2015, the German Academic Exchange Service (Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst, DAAD) will grant a Greek student 525,- € and a Greek graduate 585,- €.

Entitled as graduate is anyone who graduated from a university, including doctoral students, doctors of law, professors of law and environmental scientists.

These funds are designated for travel, accommodation and provisions. The DAAD takes over the quoted costs for 10 Greek students and 15 Greek graduates. If interested, you are kindly requested to submit a letter of application addressed to the coordinator of the winter school at Trier University, Ms. Gülmez (guelmez@uni-trier.de) until October 16th 2015.

Please note that the participants are required to pay their expenses in advance before they can claim them and that no further costs above the stated limits are reimbursable.

Accommodation

Greek students and graduates may optionally be hosted by students of our University, if requested.
For such a request, please contact Ms. Gülmez.

We also recommend "Schroeders Appartment Hotel" – close to the Institute of Environmental and Technology Law of the University of Trier. It offers a large number of rooms at a rate from € 75.00 for a single to € 99.00 for a double room, including breakfast. Reservations can directly be made with the hotel. Early booking is recommended.
